Nearly $3 million cut from budget; sizable layoffs of personnel likely

By Marcia Bullard
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Nearly $3 million was slashed out of SIU's 1974-75 budget Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

SIU President David R. Derge affirmed at a press conference late Tuesday that the cut will mean a "sizeable layoff of some personnel" at SIU next year.

The $62.8 million budget for next year is $4 million higher than this year's budget. However, it requires SIU to cut down several existing programs and to fund new programs the IBHE considers more important.

To stay within the IBHE recommendation, Derge has commissioned his vice presidents to conduct extensive reviews of all programs and services within the University. He will present the analyses to the SIU Board of Trustees at its Dec. 13 meeting in Carbondale.

In addition to reviewing faculty and staff positions which might be eliminated, Derge said some graduate programs will be cut down and programs which seem to have lost their relevance to student needs will be cut back. Service areas such as Instructional Materials, Advisement, Career and Job Placement and Counseling and Testing also will be scrutinized he said.

Derge said as many as 200 faculty and staff members could lose their jobs in an effort to break even next year. He called an estimate of 800 faculty jobs made in Monday's newspapers "too high" and a "misunderstanding" between Keith Leasure, vice president for academic affairs, and members of the news media.

To save the $3 million, Leasure said Tuesday that at an average salary of $15,000 per year, 200 faculty and staff members could be eliminated to save money.

The IBHE recommendations now go to the General Assembly where the SIU board is expected to appeal for more funds. The final budget must be approved by Gov. Dan Walker.

proved by Gov. Dan Walker.

Derge said he "wouldn't be surprised" if the state's entire higher education budget is slashed another $15 million by the time Walker approves it.

When the IBHE considers an operating budget for a university, it uses the previous year's budget as a starting point, subtracts money from areas it believes no longer need funding and adds money for new programs.

SIU's present budget is $58.7 million. From that, the IBHE subtracted more than $2 million, because of the enrollment drop, more than $100,000 because moving classrooms to Faner Hall should cut down maintenance costs, and more than $500,000 for resource reallocations. Derge said that means university personnel are supposed to reduce the amount of resources utilized while producing the same amount of work.

That left the balance at $56 million.

Then the IBHE added on $2.2 million for salary increases, $542,400 to cover price increases, $94,000 for opening new buildings and $3.9 million for new programs. That brings the balance to $62.8 million.

The reason SIU officials cry at the "cut" is that the total "add-on" budget is $6.8 million, said John Baker, assistant provost. But the difference between this year's base and next year's recommended budget is only $4.1 million. That means the difference of $2.7 million has to come from within the University, probably in the form of personnel and program cutbacks.

The IBHE justified its subtractions from the SIU budget by saying the school reduced its own base when fewer students turned up to pay tuition. The IBHE multiplied an average of $2,000 per student times the difference between this year's enrollment and last year's enrollment to reach the $2 million figure.

This is how SIU's estimate of its 1974-75 needs compares with the IBHE recommendation:

Area	SIU request	IBHE recommendation
Faculty-staff salary increases	$5,180,863	$2,272,200
Price Increases	$869,171	$542,400
Opening new buildings (Faner Hall)	$444,516	$94,000
New and expanded programs	$9,577,972	$3,948,900 x x Of the $3.9 million, $3.4 is earmarked for the Medical School. The Carbondale campus will have the remaining $514,900 to spend on new programs.

One trustee candidate scratched from race

By Terry Martin
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Disputes about the eligibility of three student trustee candidates culminated in the election eve elimination of Larry Rafferty from contention, the election commission unanimously ruled late Tuesday night.

Commissioner Jay Berno said forged complaints were lodged against Rafferty's petition about 4 p.m. Tuesday. "After we read the complaint, we pulled the files and spot-checked names and addresses of the people who signed his petition," Berno said.

The checks showed evidence of made-up names and addresses confirmed by a registrar's printout enrollment sheet, Mike Riviere, another commissioner, said.

The commissioners said Rafferty's name will still appear on the ballot but urged voters not to "waste votes on Rafferty" because they will not be tabulated.

The eligibility of candidates Daniel Schuering and Duncan Koch were also questioned Tuesday night because of their supposed failure to participate in three of the four mandatory events required by the commission.

Both Schuering and Koch were ruled eligible by the entire commission after a prolonged investigation. A woman candidate, Candace Richards, was ruled ineligible last Thursday because of her failure to participate in the mandatory events. Ms. Richards' name will

Carr accused of hampering election

By Debby Ratermann
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Student Senate Election Commissioner Steve Nuckles said Tuesday he "has been hampered" by Student Body President Mike Carr in carrying out his duties as election commissioner. "Carr is affiliated with Action Party and he's looking out for the best interests of his party," Nuckles said.

"However, I have not let him affect any of my decisions."

Carr denied that he has hampered Nuckles, but feels that several of Nuckles' decisions "will be contested after the election Wednesday." "I've heard several complaints about his decisions," Carr said. "Laws have been violated and it can be taken to the Campus Judicial Board if the election is contested."

Two of Nuckles' decisions seem likely to be contested.

The first deals with four candidates who had letters in the Daily Egyptian Tuesday in violation of an election rule stating that "no candidate shall cause a letter written by him to appear in the DE during the week before the election."

Nuckles said, "I administratively interpret the election rules and I'm just going to throw that rule out."

Ron Adams, Diane Johnson, Maurice Richards and Larry Roth are the four candidates whose letters appeared. Nuckles said he will let them stay on the ballot "because I don't feel they did anything wrong."

"Adams said he turned his letter in Nov. 27 and it was not printed until Dec. 4. If I let Adams violate the rule, I have to let the same apply for the other three candidates who violated it," Nuckles said.

The second controversial decision made by Nuckles deals with party affiliation. Only one party, Action Party, appears on the ballot.

Larry Roth, Diane Johnson and Maurice Richards are listed as independents on the ballot, although they claim their party, Alliance for Radical Students, was legally recognized.

Garry Seltzer, who listed Reform Party as his affiliation, has also been ruled independent by Nuckles.

Ron Adams was denied Action Party affiliation by Nuckles, who said Adams' name was not on a list of official Action Party candidates he received from Dave McGuire, party chairman.

Carr, Action Party member, stopped printing the ballots until Adams' affiliation was changed to independent.

"Carr isn't running this election; I am," Nuckles said.

Dean of Students Bruce Swinburne said Tuesday, "Any decisions concerning the election will be left entirely to Student Government."

If Nuckles' decisions are contested, complaints will be heard by the Campus Judicial Board, which was appointed by Carr with the Student Senate's approval last week.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday at Lentz Hall, Trueblood Hall, Grinnell Hall, Student Center, Home Ec Building, Morris Library, Wilson Hall, Wham, Small Group Housing, School of Technical Careers' Student Center, and Airport Technology Building.

Students may vote for the candidates within their living districts. Voters need their ID and fee statement and on-campus dorm residents will also need their meal ticket.

Nuckles said senate election results "should be available by 9 p.m. Wednesday."

Thirty-four candidates are running for the 28 senate seats open. They are: West Side Non-Dorm, Jeff Lohrmann, Mark Kromer, David Lee Gulley, Alan Jacobson and Maurice Richards for four open seats; West Side Dorm, Arthur Jackson and James Ray Wood for three seats; Small Group Housing, James Dumont and Don Zwicker for one seat; East Side Non-Dorm, Elyse Flicher, Richard Lange, Larry Roth, Diane Johnson, Yogesh Desai, Vollie Morris, Warren Kraft, Darlene Tye and Garry Seltzer for six seats; East Side Dorm, Harry Yaseen, Thomas Mellman and Ron Adams for three seats; Brush Towers, Richard Starzyk, Austin Triplett, Gerald Kildusky and Eric Elrod for one seat; University Park, Sharon Grishom and Phillip Hone for three seats; Commuter, Terry Mullins, Charles Evans, Robert Hughey, Charles Ward, John Chaney, Richard Johnston and John Sheridan for five seats.

Two seats are open in Thompson Point but there are no official candidates for them.

Administrators 'less than adequate'

F-Senate to evaluate Derge

By David C. Miller Jr.
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A resolution calling the performance of SIU administrators "less than adequate" and charging the Faculty Senate to review and evaluate SIU President David R. Derge and other administrators was passed by a majority of nearly 300 faculty members at the annual general faculty meeting Tuesday.

The measure followed a quick review by Derge of the budget cuts imposed on SIU by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) earlier Tuesday. The meeting was prefaced with an address from JoAnne Thorpe, chairperson of the Faculty Senate.

Herbert Donow, associate professor of English, read and moved the resolution, which is considered an advisory note to the Faculty Senate.

The resolution cited rising administrative budgets as coming at the expense of academic spending. Another problem lies in the "proliferation of grievances against the University," notably concerning sex discrimination charges and denial of tenure, the resolution said.

The lengthy resolution also assumed a "negative effect on the morale" of SIU faculty, following administrative failures to adequately explain or provide information about University spending priorities and decisions.

All in all, the resolution said, the performance of SIU administrators has not adequately met University needs. The purpose of the investigation by the Faculty Senate is to judge the quality of SIU's recent leadership.

Budget

"In my judgment, a rather harsh budget" was passed by IBHE Tuesday, Derge told the assembled faculty. IBHE approved an operating budget of $51.3 million for SIU-Carbondale, exclusive of funding for the law and medical schools, Derge said.

Chairperson JoAnne Thorpe

Addressing about 300 SIU faculty members, Faculty Senate Chairperson JoAnne Thorpe called for increased faculty involvement in University matters. President David R. Derge also attended the general faculty meeting and outlined SIU's 1974-75 budget decrease. (Staff photo by Dennis Makes)

Walker attacks Democrats for election endorsements

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker attacked Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago Democratic organization Tuesday for endorsing primary election opponents to independent Democratic lawmakers Dawn Clark Natchez and James Houlihan.

The governor said at a news conference he will support Mrs. Natchez and Houlihan, senator and a representative respectively from the 13th District on Chicago's Near North Side.

Both defeated regular organization candidates in independent campaigns in 1972.

Mrs. Natchez said she thinks the regular organization hopes to defeat her to slow down the growth of the North Side independent movement before the 1975 mayoral election.

"The machine, the same machine that opposed them in 1972, opposed me, and for the same reasons," Walker said. "They are loyal to the people they represent, not the political bosses. So all the power and money of the machine will now back their opponents."

The candidates selected by the party slatemaking committee, are Jesse White and James Arvey for the House and Arnold Levy for the Senate.

Academic programs, the library and the physical plant are only a few of the places funding will be reviewed, Derge said. Enrichment of one department must necessarily come at the depletion of another, he explained.

The University is down to a point, Derge said, where extra dollars have to come at the expense of reduced personnel services. He said 80 per cent of each dollar spent at SIU goes into these areas.

The picture is not entirely black, since SIU received "modest" new program funding, Derge said. Additionally, he said he felt "fortunate" SIU was allowed $3.7 million for construction of on-campus facilities for the School of Technical Careers.

Despite the good points of IBHE's action, Derge recognized there still exists a "crisis in higher education."

"Somewhere we have failed to persuade the people of this state about the needs of higher education," he said.

"We must change the public policy (toward education) of the state if we are to enjoy the type of support I think this institution deserves."

It is useless, Derge said, to place the blame for education cuts on one person or a "conspiracy" of some kind.

While IBHE is making up its mind about SIU's long-range educational mission, Derge said, the "widest possible participation" of groups in the University community is needed to decide how best to spend the money SIU receives.

Call For Action

Faculty Senate Chairperson JoAnne Thorpe opened the meeting with a call for greater faculty involvement in solving the problems at SIU.

Faculty members must assume a "significant role" she said, since "obviously the problems... have not been solved by the administration working in isolation with the IBHE."

Ms. Thorpe reviewed Faculty Senate legislation and actions for the assembly, pointing out 71 items have come before the senate for action since June, 1973. This contrasts with the 27 proposals considered by the former Faculty Council over a two-year period.

Meeting budget cutbacks and other problems are a reality which with faculty members must learn to deal, Ms. Thorpe said. She asserted SIU's faculty has the initiative, imagination, and intelligence to do so.

not appear on the ballot.

A voter turnout of 5,000 undergraduate and graduate students is expected by the commission in the Wednesday vote to determine which of the 11 remaining candidates will be the first student trustee at SIU-C.

"A good turnout is extremely important because of the credibility it will give the new trustee," Riviere said.

The candidates, in the order they will appear on the ballot, are: Ronald Ruskey, Daniel Schuring, Duncan Koch, Allen Maser, George Kocan, Gary Sostrin, Larry Rafferty (declared ineligible), Guy Zajonc, Joanne Brand, Larry Weiler, Matthew Rich and Wayne Oates.

Polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Voters are required to present their student ID and fee statement, while on-campus dorm voters must also have their meal ticket.

Students may vote at any of the following polling places: Lentz Hall, Trueblood Hall, Grinnell Hall, Student Center, Home Economics Building, Morris Library, Wilson Hall, Wham Building, Airport Technology Building, School of Technical Careers Student Center and Alpha Gamma Delta House.

The weather:

Partly cloudy, cool

Wednesday: Partly cloudy and cooler with the high temperature in the upper 30's to lower 40's. Probability for precipitation in the form of drizzle will be 40 per cent. The wind will be from the NW to N at 8 to 20 m.p.h. with gusts to 25. Relative humidity 85 per cent.

Wednesday night: Partly cloudy and cool with the low temperature near 30 degrees. Chances for snow or freezing rain will decrease to 30 per cent.

Thursday: Partly cloudy and continued cool with the high in the lower 40's. Tuesday's high on campus 58, 7 a.m., low 53, 3 p.m. (Information supplied by the SIU Geology Department weather station) in Small Group Housing.

Recently, the Student Senate and Graduate Student Council (GSC) compiled a list of election laws to be utilized for the trustee vote. A four-man election commission was set up because of the laws.

"If someone contests the Election commission's rulings in regard to any matter, then a Judicial Board composed of one half undergraduates appointed by Student Senate and one half graduate students appointed by GSC (no less than six people) shall be established to hear the appeal of any candidate," the election rules state. "A decision will be made by a majority of the Judicial Board."

The SIU-C Student Trustee Referendum, held Oct. 25-26, produced the largest voter turnout in the state concerning the student trustee issue and was the largest in the history of a Student Government-oriented election. The total number of ballots cast in the referendum was 5,367 with 4,658 being considered valid.

The referendum was mandated by the signing of House Bill 1628 in September by Gov. Daniel Walker, requiring every state university governing board to have one student member from each campus under its control.

Derge says SIU must overcome budget cuts

By Diane Mizialko
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

SIU must rebound from the "grave" blow of the Illinois Board of Higher Education's (IBHE) 1974-75 operating budget recommendations and begin immediately "to make a strong case for its destiny" under Master Plan Phase (MPP) IV, SIU President David R. Derge said at a Tuesday evening press conference.

SIU's '74-'75 budget was cut by nearly $3 million.

Derge quoted IBHE Executive Director Cameron West's description of the '74-'75 budget as "a considered abandonment of some of the planning parameters of Master Plan Phase III in favor of present realities." Thus, Derge said, the budget decision "opens the dialogue" for MPP IV.

MPP III, approved by the IBHE in May, 1971, recognized SIU's mission as the second, public, comprehensive university in Illinois. Among other things, MPP III gave the IBHE's blessing to development of the SIU Schools of Law and Medicine.

Earlier Tuesday, at a general faculty meeting, Derge said he was "disappointed and chagrined" at the IBHE's backdown from MPP III. Derge said he first became aware of the backdown at the IBHE meeting Tuesday in Chicago.

Derge said he expects the IBHE to unveil MPP IV in July, 1975. It is crucial, he said, for SIU to put in its oar while the new master plan is still in the planning stage.

Derge called for input from all University constituencies as an aid in formulating SIU's position on MPP IV. The input deadline is the end of Spring quarter, he said.

He noted MPP III was "an invitation to do a wide range of things" but under MPP IV, SIU might be forced to build on certain selected strengths.

The more restrictive nature of the new master plan, Derge said, follows the IBHE's discovery that its ability to fund SIU is not constant with SIU's MPP III mission.

The switch in master plans is one reason for the IBHE extending, for another two years, a statewide moratorium on the development of new Ph. D. programs, Derge said. If the implications of the '74-'75 budget are carried into MPP IV, he added, continued restrictions on doctoral programs may be expected.

Meanwhile, SIU may be called upon to wind down certain graduate programs by suspending admissions, he said.

The IBHE also recommended Tuesday, Derge said, that SIU draw a 6 per cent higher appropriation from its "income fund." The income fund is money paid by SIU to the state and is later appropriated back to the University.

Choate to speak at press session in Carbondale

State Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, will "make an announcement concerning an important Southern Illinois political contest" at a press conference set for 9 a.m. Wednesday at the Marion Ramada Inn, a spokesman from Choate's office said Tuesday.

Choate will "make an introduction" the spokesman said. He would not say whether Choate will introduce a candidate to oppose former Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, Carbondale, in the spring Democratic primary election.

Simon is seeking the Democratic nomination for the 24th U.S. Congressional District seat held by Kenneth J. Gray, a Democrat who recently announced his retirement.

The Choate spokesman also would not comment on Choate's selection of Marion as the press conference site. Sen. Gene Johns, who has indicated interest in succeeding Gray in Congress, is a Marion Democrat.

Tuition receipts make up a large part of the income fund, Derge said to afford the $254,000 hike in appropriations from the fund, he said a tuition increase may be in order.

SIU has been "pushed and shoved" by the IBHE income fund appropriation boost into considering a tuition increase, but administrators will make an effort to find the necessary money elsewhere, Derge said.

One bright spot in the IBHE budget decision, Derge said, was the $3.7 million added to SIU's capital budget for development of the School of Technical Careers (STC).

The STC item was one of four major capital projects in the Illinois university system approved by the board, Derge said.

SIU plans to construct a new building for the STC on the Carbondale campus next year.

Shultz distressed over speculation on gas rationing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz is said by friends to be distressed at speculation that the administration's energy reorganization results from the dispute over gasoline rationing and a struggle for power by the Treasury Department.

Shultz played a major role in the reorganization, telling President Nixon that the energy program was collapsing under former Colorado Gov. John Love.

He also recommended that Nixon name Deputy Treasury Secretary William E. Simon head of a new Federal Energy Administration.

"He felt he had to advise the President that things were not moving fast enough," friends of Shultz said Tuesday.

The reorganization was an end run around Love, who then resigned as the President's chief energy adviser.

"While it can be assumed Shultz recommended Simon," friends said, "the motives are not what they are assumed to be, a grab for power at Treasury, because Treasury is out of it."

"The issue is action, and he feels the President is going to get action now," they said.

Love has said he was frustrated in performing his duties by too small a staff and inability to get the President's ear, and also by disagreement with Shultz and Simon over energy policy.

In an interview Monday with the Denver Post, Love said Shultz won out in a White House argument over a mandatory fuel allocation program, saying "Shultz was dead set against it."

Shultz' friends say he is unhappy over news stories that portray the dispute as one over gasoline rationing, which he hopes can be avoided, or a power struggle.

Although Shultz is represented as wishing to adopt for himself a low profile on energy matters, he did abandon this position three weeks ago to speak out publicly against a quick move towards gasoline rationing.

Rustlers have high lookout

CHICAGO (AP)—Cattle rustlers have come a long way, if one is to judge from a recent item published in Prairie Farmer, America's oldest farm magazine.

The article states that some $300,000 worth of livestock has been stolen from a 10-county area of Iowa. Officials theorize that the rustlers are using helicopters to spot the livestock. The information is then radioed to trucks on the ground and the rustlers keep a lookout from the helicopter while the cattle are loaded into the truck.

The Jigging Game

Like many games people play (Monopoly, Bingo, Scrabble, Chess), in the Jigging Game, the players have an option as to what rules should or should not be enforced, along with the fact that "position" is the key to being a winner or loser.

However, when a game is played on a real-life scale the rules are not always available to everyone involved and the outcome of the game can some times become a matter of life and death.

Since the beginning of Fall quarter when rumors of the impending SIU budget cuts by the IBHE (Illinois Board of Higher Education) began circulating around campus, prospective players have been busy at the task of tooling up their playing skills. Now the game has begun. Yet, few seem concerned that win, lose or draw, the students are paying the bills.

How, where and through what means will the University make the "proposed" necessary cuts in staff and programs to reduce their expenditures to the new budget figures? By playing the "jigging game," of course.

The problem lies in the fact that all too often when this game is played little or no consideration is given to the actual value or need of each person, place or program tossed up into the air and allowed to smash to the ground—an event to which the lead-jigger usually responds: "but we just couldn't continue to jiggle you (it, that) anymore!"

It is agreed that cuts must be made, fat and other waste-matter must be trimmed to the bare necessity point in order to work within the $62,847,600 budget allotment. However, in the process more cooperative efforts should be fostered by the powers that be to better associate suggested cuts with the primary needs and services which directly affect the students.

Certainly, we can appreciate the reluctance on the part of administration officials to face a public review of the "bad news," which would be brought about by openly announcing what staff members, programs and operations were under consideration for the axes.

Yet, there is a question "fairness" involved. And if the "privileged few" are allowed to smugly go about head-hunting other at will, without a review or discussion, what will be left for those of us who just happen to be concerned?

It is believed that through understanding we learn to respect, appreciate and improve ourselves in order to overcome difficult times. It is especially important that those who know the hows and whys of the considered cut share them fully; for how else will anyone know if they were right.

In our state institutions of higher learning, must the students always be the ones who suffer the most and have the least to say about it.

Letter

Gardiner counts score

To the Daily Egyptian:

Recently President Derge enumerated (DE November 27th) some of the University's accomplishments during 1972-1973 under his administration. Space, budget, modesty or something else so curtailed that list that I hasten to expand it. Inasmuch as President Derge listed only nine, I have limited myself to a like number of accomplishments.

The Derge administration of SIU-C has

- 1) achieved the greatest drop in student enrollment in history;

- 2) inspired a flurry of Fair Employment Practices cases;

- 3) continued to offer courses which had a mean enrollment of 1.9 students per class while terminating scores of instructors teaching courses with much heavier enrollments;

- 4) hired faculty under terms destructive of the principle of "equal opportunity" employer;

- 5) incurred the censure of the nation-wide American Association of University Professors;

- 6) placed the affairs of the late Latin American Institute under the administrative control of an individual of questionable academic competence regarding those affairs;

- 7) objected to a faculty member consuming as many as four years between his MA and PhD degrees;

- 8) sought support by condemning two of the most prestigious educational institutions in the state as "private ratholes," and
- 9) innovated an administrative desire for a $10,000-per-year liquor allowance.

When President Derge offers his promised detailed list of accomplishments, it is hoped that list will approximate a full historical statement rather than another self-serving public relations release.

THE DAYS DWINDLE DOWN TO A PRECIOUS FEW

Bruce Sharps Buffalo Evening News

Integrity and the presidency

From the Christian Science Monitor

When once asked for a statement on her politics, the founder of this newspaper, Mary Baker Eddy, replied: "I have none, in reality, other than to help support a righteous government; to love God supremely, and my neighbor as myself."

It is a calm and simple dictum, well worth heeding in these days when politics are beset by emotionalism and tawdry abuse.

Today, just as it has for 65 years, this newspaper stands firmly in support of righteous government in countries around the world. In the United States, it respects and supports the office of the presidency. Because of this, it demands that the office be honored by high standards of morality and integrity from any incumbent, of whatever religious faith, whatever racial background.

The United States was a nation founded on little more than soaring ideals. Over the years, it has developed diplomatic skills, its economy has become strong, its military might awesome. But its real strength lies in the extent to which it demonstrates moral power as a nation and freedom and justice for its citizens.

It is essential that these standards and ideals be honored at the highest levels of the country's leadership. Throughout the long months of Watergate anguish, we have urged President Nixon to greater candor, to more forthrightness with a puzzled populace. We were pleased when recently he launched Operation Candor. The promise to answer all questions fully was welcome though belated. But with the latest revelations and contradictions concerning the presidential tapes, it is clear that Mr. Nixon will have to try much harder if he is to restore his credibility.

With so much confusion abroad in the country, such apparent contradictions as the following need clarification:

"My consistent position from the beginning has been to get out the facts about Watergate, not to cover them up." Nixon, Aug. 15, 1973.

"It was on March 17 that I first learned of the break-in at the office of Dr. Fielding. . . . On April 25th Attorney General Kleindienst came to me and urged that the fact of the break-in should be disclosed to the court. . . ." Nixon, Aug. 15, 1973.

"This nation—Republicans, Democrats, Independents, all Americans—can have confidence in the fact that the Attorney General, Elliot Richardson, and the special prosecutor that he will appoint in this case will have the total cooperation of the executive branch of this government. They will get to the bottom of this thing." Nixon, May 9, 1973.

"Though I have not wished to intrude upon the independence of the special prosecutor, I have felt it necessary to direct him, as an employee of the executive branch, to make no further attempts by judicial process to obtain tapes, notes or memoranda of presidential conversations." Nixon, Oct. 19, 1973.

"You remember the famous case involving Thomas Jefferson where Chief Justice Marshall, then sitting as a trial judge, subpoenaed a letter which Jefferson had written which Marshall thought or felt was necessary evidence in the trial of Aaron Burr. Jefferson refused to do so, but it did not result in a suit. What happened was, of course, a compromise in which a summary of the contents of the letter which was relevant to the trial was produced by Jefferson. . . ." Nixon, Oct. 26, 1973.

"Understanding that it is thought important that a letter of Nov. 12, 1806, from General Wilkinson to myself, should be produced in evidence on the charges against Burr. . . . I send you a copy of it, omitting only certain passages. . . ." President Thomas Jefferson, September, 1807. (Bold-faced added.)

"Before their existence became publicly known, I personally listened to a number of them (the tapes)." Nixon, July 23, 1973.

"As a matter of fact, the only time I listened to the tapes, two certain tapes—I didn't listen to all of them, of course—was on June the fourth." Nixon, Sept. 5, 1973.

"The tapes, which have been under my sole personal control, will remain so. None has been transcribed or made public and none will be." Nixon, July 23, 1973.

"On Sept. 29, 1973, I began a review of the tape recordings subpoenaed by the special prosecutor for the grand jury and by the Senate select committee. . . . It was during this process that I first became aware of the possibility that two of the 10 conversations in question had not been recorded. I proceeded with a review of the eight recorded conversations. . . ." Nixon, Nov. 12, 1973.

On Nov. 21 the mysterious 18-minute gap was disclosed through Mr. Nixon's personal secretary Rose Mary Woods said he had known about it since Oct. 1 when she was transcribing the tape for him—something he had said would never be done. If Operation Candor is not to become a hollow joke, Mr. Nixon needs to speak and act in the spirit of what he said Aug. 15, "Whatever the facts might be, I wanted the White House to be the first to make them public."

Dick saves his energy

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

Good morning, housewives and other shut-ins. It's time for another chapter of "Will to Win," the heart-warming story of a young Whittier lad's struggle to the top on the slogan: "In a crisis, don't let others waste your energy!"

As we join our hero, Dick, today, he's seated in the breakfast nook as his loyal wife, Pat, enters, wearing a fur coat over her wool nightgown.

Pat (her teeth chattering): D-d-dear, couldn't I have just a little heat in my b-b-bedroom? I took a sip of water from the glass by my bed and chipped a tooth on the ice. And maybe a flashlight? So I could read in bed?

Dick (firmly): We must keep cool in a crisis! And as for wastefully reading in bed, why don't you listen to my Lawrence Welk records instead?

Pat: With ear muffs on? Besides, you have an electric blanket and.

Dick (frowning): I have conserved more energy than any other living American. If you read the papers, you'd know that on my last trip to San Clemente, I ordered the speed of Air Force One reduced from 525 to 477 miles per hour—thus cutting fuel consumption from 2200 to 2000 gallons an hour.

Pat (contitely): I'm sorry, dear. Oh, if only every American could be like you and save 200 gallons of fuel an hour! The crisis would be over.

Dick: Unfortunately, Pat, not every American can be like me. Therefore, I am taking other drastic measures. First, I am grounding King Timahoe's helicopter.

Pat: But he's like a member of the family.
Dick: Nevertheless, he'll have to make the 90-minute drive to Camp David in a chauffeured limousine like others of my staff. Then, to save on wasteful television camera lights, I have decided not to appear—much as I'd like to—before the Senate Watergate Committee.

Pat: Goodness! The next thing you'll do is abolish Monday night football.

Dick: Let's not panic! Instead, I have ordered the lights on half the political billboards in the country turned off until after next fall's elections.

Pat: That's a great sacrifice, dear.

Dick: Yes, and if the crisis grows any worse, I'll turn off the Republican ones, too. Meanwhile, to save on cooking fuels, we'll serve nothing but cold cottage cheese and catsup at State dinners; Henry Kissinger's brilliant peace missions on my behalf will henceforth be confined to Capitol Hill and the National Press Club; and I have turned off all my tape recorders and stuck Rose Mary Woods in the closet to take shorthand.

Pat: My, I hope she doesn't think you're punishing her for erasing that tape.

Dick: No, as I told her at the time, "That's your baby, Rose Mary." Well, I think that's every possible sacrifice I can make to. . . Say, it's chilly in here.

Pat: Yes, dear, I turned the heat down to 68 so you could keep cool in this crisis, too.

Dick: (shivering): That's very thoughtful. But, as for me, I must be off to set another shining example for every American.

Pat: You're going bicycling, dear?

Dick: No, I'm flying to Florida to save another 200 gallons of fuel an hour.

Good road news for Illinois

It is especially good news for Southern Illinois that state legislators and the executive branch have agreed to go ahead with full funding of the supplemental freeway system for the downstate area.

The system, costing an estimated $5 billion over a 15-year period, is the result of five years of work by the Illinois Highway Study Commission, and will provide Illinois with perhaps the finest state freeway system in the nation.

For Southern Illinois, the long-awaited and much-needed St. Louis to Carbondale freeway will provide an economic lifeline and stimulus to growth that will benefit residents throughout the southern region.

Although it may yet be 10 years from completion, the road was given a solid start with the announcement that an additional $200 million would be authorized for immediate expenditure on the freeways. Much of that money is specifically earmarked for the St. Louis to Carbondale road, which continues on to Marion, Hartsburg and on up to Lawrenceville.

Gov. Dan Walker, who had outlined a limited supplemental freeway program, was forced to give way to Republican demands that the road program go ahead full steam in order to gain support for a regional transit system in the Chicago area.

Perhaps the most important aspect of the full freeway system, in terms of the whole downstate area, is the building of major north-south roads.

The system, when completed, will provide freeway, standard roads running from East St. Louis through Alton to Jacksonville, Macomb, and on to Rock Island. Another will provide critically needed north-south transportation on freeways from Rockford in the northern part of the state down to just north of Centralia to connect with U.S. 59 (which itself is being made into a major east-west freeway from St. Louis across to Indiana).

A third freeway will run from Chicago, south along the Indiana border to Lawrenceville, connecting with the St. Louis to Carbondale, Harrisburg, Lawrenceville road.

Roads bring economic growth as well as provide fast and safe transportation for private citizens and industry. The agreement to push forward with the full freeway system is a boon for Southern Illinois and the whole downstate area.

TV's ethnic censorship

The history of Hollywood film-making is studded with examples of bad taste and shoddy exploitation of popular stereotypes. The motion picture industry, in virtually every era, turned out too many films which chased after box-office profits by catering to the lowest common denominator of the audience. The Hollywood version of Gresham's Law has been operative from the days of the old Westerns' savage Indians and the 'thirties' Stepin Fetchit Negroes to the forties' stock characters of Oriental villainy and the current crop of brutalized Super-Blacks.

None of these grievous lapses from taste, truth and artistry, however, justify the surrender to minority—or, for that matter, majority—group pressures which reportedly ban increasing numbers of films from the nation's television screens. To bar that classic, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," in response to Mexican-American objections to the character of a Mexican bandit is as unacceptable as it is to excise the Mafia from moviedom to avoid the wrath of certain Italian-American pressure groups or to banish "Oliver Twist" or "The Merchant of Venice" because of their anti-Semitic overtones.

Television entertainment programming ought to be guided—more than it appears to be—by professional standards of artistry and taste. Not every old movie needs to be revived simply because it is in a convenient and inexpensive can. But the decisions should be made on the basis of the film's merit, not in reaction to ethnic or special interest pressures.

Charlie Chaplin's "Modern Times" may still be anathema to doctrinaire capitalists. The Marx Brothers and W. C. Fields, in the best tradition of comic genius, relied heavily on their capacity to offend a maximum number of special interests. "Gone With the Wind" is hardly a modern civil rights manifesto. Police unions and hard hats' protective organizations might wish to bar many of the sixties' radical-chic productions.

There are two proper responses to motion picture entertainment—hard-headed criticism or the exercise of the inalienable right to tune out. Censorship by threat or pressure is incompatible with the principles of a free society.

Panelist's discuss women's lack of power in politics

By Debby Ratemann
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"The Power of Women in Politics and Business" was discussed Tuesday at the last session of "Being A Women" seminar sponsored by the SIU Counseling Center this quarter.

Associate Professor Joann Paine, in the Department of Government, Rosemary Hawkins of Community Involvement in Carbondale, and Ruth Altkruse, owner of Caru's Men Shop in Carbondale, led the discussion.

Ms. Paine said there has never been a woman president or vice president in America, nor have there been many women governors. "In the fifty years since women got the vote, there have been only ten or so female senators, and perhaps 60 women representatives on the national level."

"A large number of these women were the widows of incumbent senators or governors," Ms. Paine said. "It almost appears that the best way for woman to gain political office is to marry a politician and then kill him."

"It's difficult for a woman to be elected, but it's even more difficult for her to be re-elected," Ms. Paine said. "You need to be re-elected several times before you gain seniority and have a chance for the important committee appointments and chairmanships."

Ms. Paine also pointed out that "women tend to be excluded from the informal policy-making in the House and Senate. Politicians go out and have a drink together or play golf together. Women don't belong to the same clubs or share the same locker rooms; it's difficult for women to be admitted to their circle."

"Women are elected as infrequently on the state level," Ms. Paine said. "There are only 100 women mayors in the country, and none are in major cities."

Ms. Paine said a prerequisite for attaining powerful political offices in America is "to be independently wealthy, or to have a profession you can maintain while you're in office. Law seems to be the best choice."

"Unfortunately, most women don't think of becoming lawyers," she said. "Stuffing envelopes or doing volunteer work for a political party is effective, but it's not going to increase your chances of attaining office."

Ms. Paine urged women "to run, even if you think you'll lose. At least you'll build a political organization, make your name known and gain support."

Ms. Hawkins, who has experience as a campaign organizer and adviser, agreed with Ms. Paine's suggestions but added, "Qualifications for a woman candidate have to be extraordinary. She must have very strong credentials just to be considered."

Ms. Hawkins cited a campaign she worked on for a woman in Iowa in 1966. "We got a good response from male voters, but the women were much harder on her. Women kept asking, 'But who will take care of your children?' She had a terrible time just keeping her cool."

"Voters were skeptical about her ability in the financial area. The public refuses to believe a woman knows anything about finances or can deal with financial problems," Ms. Hawkins said. "It's the old myth that women can't balance their checkbooks."

Howard Hughes gives $100,000 to senate panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attorney for billionaire Howard Hughes Tuesday turned over to the Senate Watergate committee $100,000 in cash, said to have been paid by Hughes to a personal friend of President Nixon. The money was delivered in one thousand $100 bills by Chester Davis, a Hughes attorney years after another Hughes agent delivered it to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a Florida banker and close friend of the President.

The money was driven the short distance from a Senate hearing room to the committee's headquarters in the New Senate Office Building where it was photographed on a copying machine.

The delivery of the money to the committee came as Davis began testifying under oath about the circumstances of the payments which Rebozo and the President have called a campaign donation.

Ms. Paine mentioned that women candidates are condemned if they are married and condemned if they aren't. "If you're married, they say you're running because you can't handle your home or you have an unhappy marriage. If you're unmarried, they say you're running to make up for not being able to land a man. You're a loser both ways."

Ms. Hawkins said she has been approached to work for a candidate "on a volunteer basis, with no pay. Two men are also being asked to work on the same level as I, but they'll receive about $15,000 each, because that's what they're making now. It's difficult to be considered a professional if you're not working full time."

The third panel member, Ruth Altkruse, summed up her experiences as a woman in business by saying, "I'm the exception rather than the rule." She added that she thinks "it's much less harsh for a woman in business than in politics."

Ms. Altkruse said she has "gotten a lot of breaks by being a woman. Whatever I've wanted to do in business, I've done."

Ms. Altkruse and a partner started Caru's Men Shop with only $4,000. "If I hadn't had a husband to support me that first year, I wouldn't have earned enough to support a family," she said. "And if I hadn't had a husband who had a job, I wouldn't have been able to get a bank loan. My husband had to sign for me."

Ms. Paine said women "don't want to 'make it' because of our sex. We want to make it because of other characteristics besides sex."

Nixon's net worth has tripled since presidency

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's net worth has tripled since he took office and now stands at about $1 million, his lawyers have told Republican congressional leaders.

Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., said Tuesday that the lawyers reported at a White House meeting Monday night that the President's net worth was in "the neighborhood of $300,000" on Jan. 1, 1969, and by last May 31 had risen to about $900,000. Neither of the figures jibes with previous public statements by Nixon aides on the President's net worth. One White House official said this was because of differences in accounting procedures.

Anderson and others attending the two-hour White House meeting said the lawyers presented a complex cash flow chart and other documents to illustrate Nixon's income and expenditures and show how he legitimately obtained the increase in net worth.

"They made it sound pretty convincing," Anderson said.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said the consensus of those at the session was that "the President had not done anything that was illegal, or irregular, or unethical."

Festive Christmas concert to feature 200 musicians

By Dave Stearns
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Approximately 200 musicians will converge at Mueselroy Auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday to perform Christmas music by Josef Haydn, Johann Pachelbel and J.S. Bach.

This large ensemble specifically consists of the University Singers, the University Choir, a chamber ensemble, assorted soloists and director Robert Kingsbury.

The festive flavored program will begin with Bach's Cantata No. 51 for solo soprano and trumpet.

"I've never conducted this piece before, simply because I didn't have soloists who could perform the parts, which are highly virtuosic and difficult," Kingsbury said. "The soprano solo spans two octaves and the trumpet solo is in the typical hazardous Baroque style—very florid, rapid, rhythmically alive and high."

Marajean Marvin, who has recently appeared on regional television and with the University Chorale, will sing the solo soprano and Phillip Olsson will play solo trumpet. Other featured instruments include a violin duet, which will be played by John Stubbs and Bob Klemp.

"It's very festive and bright, sort of a 'Praise God' cantata, which is what makes it good for a Christmas program," Kingsbury said.

Josef Haydn's "Te Deum," which is on the program, is infrequently played because a performable copy of the score has only been available since 1959. Kingsbury said, who has made a few modifications in the score.

"The sources of research that were used to compile a performable copy of the score were so nebulous that I've decided to change some of the dynamic levels, upon the suggestion of the publisher," Kingsbury said. "I also question the trombone part, which I've modified. I made these changes after gaining insight from some of Haydn's symphony scores, for 'Te Deum' is written in the same unmistakable style of his symphonies."

The third piece on the program is Pachelbel's "Magnificat in C," which depicts the Blessed Virgin Mary's response to the realization that she would bear Jesus Christ.

"The Magnificat is a very florid early Baroque piece. In his day, Pachelbel was primarily known as a composer of organ music and consequently his vocal music has a certain keyboard quality. He was one of Bach's early models, and this piece will probably remind you of Bach," Kingsbury said.

The soloists in the Magnificat will include soprano Christine Renshaw, who recently appeared with the Collegium Musicum, alto Katherine Wanaski Mabius, who recently portrayed Carmen in the Opera Showcase and Frank Gibbard, who is a professor of chemistry.

Both performances are free of charge and open to the public.

Drowned man's body found 150 miles upstream

CAIRO (AP)—A body found Oct. 22 on the Illinois bank of the Ohio River has been identified as that of a Memphis man who fell out of a boat while fishing 150 miles downstream near Memphis.

Gene Chrestman, Alexander County coroner, theorized the body of Jody L. McAllister, 51, had been snagged by a barge and carried to Cairo where it broke free. He said there was no indication of homicide.

The Illinois Crime Lab announced today it had made the identification through a six-week search of fingerprint files.

McAllister fell into the river Oct. 5, his body found near the confluence of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, will be disinterred Thursday for re-burial near Bardwell, Ky., the home of several relatives.

Industry, utilities must cut

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—Energy saved by millions of U.S. families represents a drop in the bucket, according to Thomas P. O'Boyle, president of Ecodyne Corp. O'Boyle said, to business and trade editors attending an Energy Resources Roundtable here, that the solution to the energy crisis is up to industries and utilities.

Workers continue search for missing railroad man

By Rafe Klinger
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

With the wreckage of Sunday's train collision pulled to the side of the grade, regular two-way rail traffic resumed Monday evening while workers continued their search for a railroad fireman missing since the accident near Cobden.

The collision occurred after a northbound freight, rerouted onto the southbound lane to avoid track work, met an oncoming southbound freight head-on. Three crewmembers, including both engineers, were killed while one other was seriously injured.

A fifth person, fireman Bill Baltzell of Centralia, was still missing Tuesday afternoon and is believed to be buried somewhere in the wreck's debris. Both trains were Illinois Central Gulf (ICG) freights.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn Rosson, Union County Sheriff's police, said Tuesday that the tracks were cleared away and trains began rolling since early Monday evening.

Meanwhile, workers continued digging for the body of Baltzell.

Illinoisan manager will lecture at SIU

John Gardner, general manager of the Southern Illinoisan, will be a guest instructor to a public relations class, (Speech 331), at noon Thursday in Lawson Room 221.

Gardner's subject will be "Media Relations."

His lecture will focus on the relationship between public relations practitioners and editors and reporters. He is the sixth guest lecturer in the public relations class this quarter.

All interested students and faculty are invited to attend.

Rosson said. "He could still be buried under the mud. There's 3-4 feet of it where the tractors were working."

As to the possibility of Baltzell having been thrown clear of the wreck, Rosson replied. "He'd almost have to be there. The rest of them (the other crewmembers killed or injured) were there."

In St. Louis' Barnes Hospital, the one surviving crewmember from the front of the train, Ronald Haack, remains in critical condition in the burn unit, a hospital spokeswoman reported. Haack, 25, of Mascoutah, Ill., is suffering from second degree burns over his face, neck, chest and hands and a broken leg.

Frank Malone, public relations for ICG in Chicago, said formal investigation into the causes of the collision will begin as soon as Haack can be questioned, since he is the only survivor from the front of the trains.

Malone said there was also a chance that the federal government would conduct a separate investigation.

Warn of nationwide stoppage

Truckers blockade highways

By William Kronholm
Associated Press Writer

Truckers angry over higher fuel prices and lower speed limits blocked highways in four states Tuesday. Some drivers warned of a nationwide stoppage.

It was not immediately clear whether the demonstrations were part of a coordinated effort, although some drivers apparently were involved in more than one blockade.

The American Trucking Association and the Teamsters Union denied any involvement in the protests.

An Associated Press spot check showed officials in most states knew of no blockades.

Demonstrations were reported on Interstate 40 near Blakeslee, Pa., and Blairtown, N.J., and on Interstate 70 near Wheeling, W. Va., and Cambridge and Hebron, Ohio.

Two arrests were reported during the initial protests, one in West Virginia, the other in Ohio.

Security receives bike plates, registry delayed

The SIU Security office received Monday the long-awaited delivery of 5,000 bicycle registration plates, announced Edward McCue, assistant security officer.

The original delivery date was Nov. 5.

"Everything is here, we finally got them," McCue said.

With finals only a week away, McCue said that bicycle registration would be delayed until the beginning of Winter quarter.

Starting either Jan. 8 or 9, bicycle owners will have a one-week period to register their bicycles. This is done either on campus or at city registration stations set up by Carbondale police. Registration fee will be $1.

Professor to talk about Kissinger

Ikuu Chou, professor of government, will speak on "Henry Kissinger and the Two Chinas" at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Student Center Activities Rooms A and B. The lecture is sponsored by the Chinese Student Association and is open to the public.

Walter Barclay of Omaha, Neb., one of a group of truckers who gathered in the afternoon at a truck stop near Hebron, about 28 miles east of Columbus, said he had been arrested in Wheeling, W. Va., early Tuesday morning when he jacked up the front of his truck on an entrance ramp, blocking traffic. Police confirmed the arrest and said he had been fined and released.

"Right now truck drivers are scum...just dirt under people's feet," complained Barclay who said he paid his $39.50 fine in Wheeling, then drove to Ohio to start the blockade near Cambridge.

The demonstration lasted about two hours. Authorities said about 60 trucks were involved and at one point traffic was backed up about two miles by the blockade in the westbound lanes of the highway.

Barclay said that at Cambridge he pretended to be out of fuel. Other drivers joined him, pretending to have mechanical problems.

One of the drivers, Robert Galluccio, 25, of Highland Park, N.J., refused to move off the highway and was arrested on a charge of illegal parking. He posted bond and was released.

The caravan of truckers then proceeded about 40 miles to the Hebron area, and briefly staged another blockade before breaking for lunch and the truck-stop meeting.

Barclay said word of the shut-downs spread from truck to truck via citizen band radios. He said he would try to launch other blockades along Interstate 70 from Columbus to Indianapolis and beyond.

Some drivers also complained about the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit imposed in many areas in response to President Nixon's energy conservation message. The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would require states to impose such a limit or lose federal highway funds.

Drivers in Pennsylvania, where traffic near Blakeslee was blocked for five hours ending at 3 a.m., issued a list of demands that included a 65-mile-per-hour speed limit and a ceiling of 35.9 cents a gallon on the price of diesel fuel.

Congress may consider bill to punish absent members

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress' bid to reassert its responsibilities has provided the opening for some lawmakers to deal with an old congressional absenteeism.

Calling absenteeism "a thorn in the side of Congress," Rep. Clarence Miller, R-Ohio, has introduced a constitutional amendment providing for expulsion of members who miss 40 per cent of the votes during a term.

There is nothing new about the proposal. Former Sen. Margaret Chase-Smith, R-Maine, tried in 1969 to make it possible for delinquent members to shape up or be shipped out. Her bill was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee where it died.

Presently, four similar bills are languishing before the House Judiciary Committee. Their chances of survival—like other bills seeking to disqualify members at age 60—are said to be minimal.

Miller believes that whatever reasons congressmen had for not wanting to pull the rug from under less zealous colleagues, they are no longer valid in today's post-Watergate political climate.

"There could be no better way of promoting public confidence in our abilities and commitment to move America forward than a high level of congressional attendance and voting participation," Miller said in introducing his bill.

The Ohio congressman, who has not missed a vote since coming to Washington in 1967, noted that a 5 per cent absentee rate in private industry is considered high, yet the 11 per cent rate in Congress this year is its best record since 1959.

According to his count, the House was unable to form a quorum on 330 occasions last year because members were absent.

Miller is hopeful of getting positive action on his measure in time for the 1974 congressional elections when absenteeism is expected to skyrocket.

Some members argue that their elective responsibilities sometimes require their presence elsewhere during congressional votes. They explain that whenever relatively unimportant issues are being debated, they may fulfill more important engagements that have direct bearing on their jobs.

Two officers added to SIU police force

Two new officers will begin work Monday as SIU Security policemen, announced Edward McCue, assistant security officer.

David Lewis, 27, of Beecher City and David Spruell, 22, of Christopher recently completed six weeks of training at the Police Training School at the University of Illinois, Urbana.

Lewis holds a masters degree in administration of justice and was formerly employed by the security office at Eastern Kentucky State University.

Spruell was recently discharged from the Army where he served as an instructor of military policemen.

In an incident this weekend, Security police reported that $384 of electricians tools were taken from a third floor room in Faner Hall sometime between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Park officials to discuss financing

Discussion on the proposed recreation center and the referendum on a bond issue financing the center will be the main topics at the Carbondale Park District Board of Commissioners' meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the park district office.

A date for another referendum on the bond issue was tentatively set for early March at the commissioners' Nov. 26 meeting. More detailed ideas from the commissioners are to be presented Wednesday.

The first referendum on a $75,000 bond issue for the recreation center was defeated by voters Nov. 10. Plans for the center include an olympic-sized swimming pool and an indoor ice skating rink.

Robert Coatney, park district director, said he wasn't sure whether a possible meeting on the recreation center between the park district and the city council will be discussed.

The council had discussed such a possibility at its regular meeting Monday night. Council members indicated that they did not want to meddle in the affairs of the park district.

Fee deferments being processed

Fee deferments for winter quarter are being processed this week at Window 13 in the Bursar's Office, Woody Hall C.

Winter fees must be paid by Dec. 12. The minimum amount of fees which can be deferred is $50.

A drop box is provided at Window 18 for students who do not wish to wait in line to pay fees. Students may leave a check and their fees statement in the box and pick it up winter quarter.

Students with no fees to pay must still have their fees statements validated before the Dec. 12 deadline.

They were in favor of meeting with the park district to find out the long range goals of the center and the center's effect on the city.

"I think it's something which should have been done a long time ago," Coatney said. "He plans to meet with City Manager Carroll Fry to discuss the matter."

Tom Langdon, president of the park district board of commissioners, favored such a meeting. "We're ready to meet anytime," he said.

City wards to coincide with county precincts

By Dan Haar
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

County precinct lines will be used as boundaries of city wards for Carbondale elections.

The City Council passed an ordinance Monday night amending the existing voting precinct ordinance to make city voting wards coincide with county precincts.

Under the ordinance, city wards would have basically the same boundaries and numbers as the county precincts.

The county precinct lines extend to the limits of Carbondale Township whereas city ward lines extend only to the city limits.

Precincts partly within the city would be combined with other precincts wholly within the city.

In another action, council members reacted negatively to a proposed annexation agreement between the city and Gordon Parrish.

Parrish asked that the council state its views on the provisions of the agreement before subdivision and zoning procedures are begun. The agreement involves about 40 acres near the Murdale Shopping Center east of Carbondale.

Council reaction centered around a report from the Jackson County Soil and Water Conservation District which cautioned that the area was in danger of flooding.

John Parrish, who attended the meeting to answer any questions the council had, reported that the area had been elevated and was no longer a flood area.

Shakespearean play reading in library Friday

Faculty members of the English and theater departments and Morris Library will offer a reading of William Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" at 8 p.m. Friday in Morris Library Auditorium.

The loosely-organized group of faculty and students has traditionally presented one Shakespearean play reading per quarter.

The part of Shylock will be read by James Benziger, professor of English. Portia will be read by Elin Harrison, associated professor of theater and Lancelot Gobbo by Ralph Bushee, assistant professor of Special Collections, Morris Library.

Admission is free.

English professor to read her poem

Judith Little, assistant professor of English, will read her poem, "A Legend of Women," at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Wesley Foundation, 816 S. Illinois Avenue.

A reception will follow the reading and the Mock Turtle Crafts Gallery, adjacent to the reception area, will be open from 7 to 9 p.m.

The program is sponsored by the Carbondale Women's Center. Admission is free.

PR meeting slated

The last PR club meeting of the quarter will be held Wednesday. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. in the Student Activities Rooms C and D. Topics for discussion are the Women's Center Project and a possible free kegger on Friday.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in the Friday edition of the Daily Egyptian that Continuing Education for Women course, Making It Alone, will begin Jan. 10. The course will begin Feb. 4.

Another course, Women Today, was reported as meeting from 1-3 p.m. The course meets from 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Councilman Hans Fischer emphasized that the Soil and Water Conservation report stated that even with land elevation, flooding would still be a danger.

Mayor Neal Eckert asked Parrish if he disagreed with the report. Parrish replied that he thought the danger of flooding had been eliminated by the land elevation.

Parrish said the annexation would benefit the city because of revenue the city would gain from suburban business.

Eckert then asked Parrish if the report sounded unreasonable. Parrish suggested that the council members look at the area and see for themselves. He said the local heavy rains have not flooded the area.

Councilman Clark Vineyard said he was against the annexation agreement as written until evidence refuting the conservation report was produced.

Eckert ended the discussion by asking for detailed information dealing with the matters brought up by the conservation report.

The council also passed ordinances annexing and zoning about 300 acres along Route 13 across from the U.S. Post Office, University Mall and J.C. Penney's.

Under the ordinances, a three-acre strip directly across from the Penney's store and a 39.5-acre area across from the Post Office is zoned B-4, suburban business.

The other 260 acres, stretching north from Route 13, will be zoned R-5, residential use.

A public hearing on the annexation and zoning agreement, which was to be held during the council meeting, drew no response from the public or the council.

Final exam schedule announced

The 1973 Fall Quarter examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflicts by providing separate examination periods for Tuesday-Thursday lecture classes. Some questions might develop for which answers can be provided at this time.

1. Classes that meet longer than one hour on Tuesday and Thursday, such as four quarter hour classes, should use the examination period established for the earlier of the hours. (For example, a class meeting from 2:00 to 3:50 on Tuesday and Thursday should hold its examination at 7:50 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 15.)

2. Some classes meeting only on Tuesday and Thursday may not use a lecture instructional technique but do hold final examinations. For example, a laboratory or seminar type class may meet on Tuesday and Thursday from 11:00 to 12:50. Such a class would have its examination at 5:50 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 13.

3. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations and for those classes that cannot hold their examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination week to provide sufficient notice for all.

The following points are also pertinent relative to the final examination schedule:

1. One and two credit hour courses have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the formal final examination week.

2. A student who has more than three examinations on one day may petition, and a student who has two examinations scheduled at one time should petition his academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that a student may decide to miss his scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for a student whose petition has been approved by his dean.

3. A student who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given a student who misses a final examination and is not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

4. A special note needs to be made relative to examinations for evening sections for those classes which have been granted a special time for examining all sections. As some students attending at night may not be able to attend the special examination period scheduled for the daytime, each department involved will have to arrange special examination periods for such students. This problem involves those night students who are fully employed during the day and who are taking night courses because it is the only time they are able to do so.

Severe weather conditions stagger Southern Illinois area

By The Associated Press

A band of severe storms moved northeast across Illinois Tuesday spawning tornadoes, high winds, rain and hail that injured at least six persons and caused damage in the thousands of dollars.

Two fifth graders at Central Grade School in Canton were treated and released for face cuts caused by a window pane which had been broken by the wind.

In Canton winds clocked up to 60 miles an hour blew a roof off a motel and a section of roof off the city building where a meeting was in session in the City Council chambers. No injuries were reported in those incidents.

Another area hit hard by the storm was Morgan County in the west-central part of the state. Several homes, buildings, cars and trees were heavily damaged by winds at the Jacksonville airport clocked at 55 miles an hour.

In Murrayville, south of Jacksonville, Elizabeth Raleigh suffered a broken collarbone when a tornado touched down in a residential area on the northeast side of the small community. She was treated and released.

A father and son, Norman Barnes Sr. and Jr. of Merritt in Scott County, were injured when wind destroyed the house on which they were working. The father was treated and released and the son was under treatment in a hospital with possible fractures.

John Chilton of rural Jacksonville suffered minor injuries when high winds blew through a trailer park one mile east of Jacksonville damaging three trailers.

Tornado warnings and severe thunderstorm warnings and watches were issued for a large portion of Illinois from St. Louis to Chicago. Flash flood watches accompanied heavy rains in Southern Illinois.

Officials of the Green County Pellet Co. in Greenfield estimate damages to a warehouse and equipment at more than $50,000.

The National Weather Service said tornadoes were reported in a two hour period Tuesday in the Peoria and Springfield area.

Two homes and an auto body shop were destroyed in Murrayville, two implement sheds and some farm equipment were damaged at Alexander, and the roof was blown off at least one building in Jacksonville.

Stormy weather struck other parts of the state. The weather service said winds were clocked at 84 miles an hour at Carbondale Tuesday morning.

Planes arriving at O'Hare airport in Chicago were delayed up to a half hour by gusty winds, fog, rain and overcast skies. Afternoon highs climbed into the high 40s and low 50s around the state.

'Vignettes in Dance' featured at Convo Thursday in Shryock

"Vignettes in Dance," partially funded by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, will be featured at the convocation 8 p.m. Thursday at Shryock Auditorium.

The program will spotlight Judy Joseph and Kenneth Brelsford, ballet and modern dancers, Pascual Olivera, flamenco and classical Spanish dancer and Nico Angel, Spanish guitarist. Master Classes will be held on the same day for all interested dance teachers and advanced students at Furr Auditorium.

A demonstration and lecture on Spanish flamenco dancing will be given from 10 a.m. to 10:45 a.m.; the 10:45 a.m. to noon class will cover classical variations; and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., a lecture by Ann Barzel, dance consultant and coordinator for the Illinois Arts Council, will outline the history of dance.

Following the performance, the audience will be invited to an informal coffee hour with the dancers, sponsored by Student Government, free of charge.

School board plans to hold additional learning session

The Carbondale Community High School (CCHS) Board of Education will hold a special session Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the CCHS Learning Center.

William Holder, superintendent, recommended the extra meeting during the November board meeting. He said guidelines must be determined for various topics such as Operation Rebound, the hiring of extra secretarial help, graduation requirements, and steps to be taken concerning the effect of the energy crises on CCHS.

The board also scheduled another extra meeting for Dec. 13 to approve a teacher payroll plan before Christmas vacation.

Newman Center to hold annual Christmas party

Thursday night the Newman Center volunteers are holding their annual Christmas party for the residents at Anna State Hospital. People are needed to bake homemade cookies, which can be dropped off at the Newman Center anytime before 6:15 p.m. Thursday.

Everyone is invited to visit the hospital, and interested persons should come to the Newman Center at 6:15 p.m. Thursday. Volunteers will leave at 6:30 p.m. Help make this a merry Christmas for the residents at Anna State Hospital.

Administration likely to urge Congress to impose rationing

By Carl C. Craft
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration most likely will urge Congress to pass a combination gasoline rationing and tax increase proposal before Christmas, officials told the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

Final administrative decisions are expected soon, representatives of the Treasury Department and the President's Office of Management

Long list of looters

Romans, Vandals, Goths, Byzantines, Lombards, Aragonese, Genoese, Moors and Barbary pirates all took part in ravaging, enslaving, taxing and hounding the Corsican people.

and Budget said. They said this as they reviewed options which they termed "under active consideration" in the area of energy conservation taxes.

The committee's debate with the officials centered on an idea of a rationing program handled through a coupon system that could, for example, give motorists a weekly allowance of 10 gallons of gasoline. Coupons would be issued through banks, and perhaps negotiable for cash at either full or reduced value.

Beyond the basic allowance, the officials said, motorists could be free under such a proposal to buy more gasoline but at a substantially increased tax, a boost of perhaps 30 to 50 cents a gallon, driving the price into the neighborhood of about $1 a gallon.

The officials said it would be important that the revenue from a tax boost be pumped back into the economy in a way that would not spur gasoline consumption. They said possible methods could include possible financing mass transit, finding new energy sources, or revenue sharing with state and local governments to reduce other taxes.

William A. Johnson, special assistant to the deputy Treasury secretary on energy matters, said the administration's suggestions, still not final, are likely to include features of both taxes and rationing.

In the long run, Johnson said, the solution must involve an end to price controls so the price of energy can rise, demand can be choked off and supply stimulated so shortages will disappear.

One and-a-two...

Richard Reese, Michael Reineking, Tom Walls and Frank Winchester (left to right) practice their conducting skills. They are four of seven student conductors who will take turns directing a large orchestra in a public performance Wednesday.

Student conductors exhibit music skills

Seven student conductors in the School of Music at SIU have a chance to exhibit their skill in a concert by the 54-piece University Wind Ensemble at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Shryock Auditorium.

Melvin Seiner, ensemble conductor, has invited the student conductors to participate in this performance. Each student will conduct one number.

Michael Reineking of Metropolis, senior, will conduct Alfred Reed's "A Festival Prelude."

Bruce Harris of Maywood, senior, will conduct "The Seventh Seal" by W. Francis McBeth.

John Jones of Bulpitt, senior, will conduct "Pas Redouble" by Camille Saint-Saens.

Tom Walls of Effingham, junior, will conduct Robert E. Jager's three-part "Third Suite."

Richard Reese of Wharton, N.J., will conduct scenes from "The Louvre" by Norman Dello Joio.

Frank Winchester of Du Quoin, will conduct Percy Grainger's "Handel in The Strand."

Randall Blue of Cincinnati, O., will conduct Paul W. Wheat's "Of This Time."

The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Civil Service Council to discuss status change

The changeover of administrative personnel to civil service status and the projected job eliminations due to SIU's decreased budget will be the focus of the Civil Service Employees Council meeting Wednesday.

The meeting, at noon in General Classroom Room 121, will be attended by Danilo Orescanin, executive vice president. Also present will be Joe Elliott, designated employee representative to the state civil service Merit Board, and Don Ward, designated employer representative.

Chairman Lee Hester said there will also be discussion of seniority within the civil service system at SIU. He said seniority matters must be straightened out in light of the imminent employment cutbacks next year.

The council is also expected to pass a resolution supporting the administration's call for civil service pay hikes.

House committee approves measure to resupply Israel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $5.8-billion foreign aid appropriation bill restoring President Nixon's full $2.2-billion request for replacing Israel's Middle East War arms losses was approved Tuesday by the House Appropriations Committee. Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., chairman of the foreign operations appropriations subcommittee which had cut the Israeli arms money to $1.7 billion, offered the amendment in the full committee to restore the funds.

Passman's amendment also would require Nixon to notify Congress 10 days in advance before spending anything over $1.7 billion of the money.

Passman said he decided to restore the money after Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger Jr. contacted him and gave him information which he said justified the full request.

Administration officials have testified in the past week that the money is needed not only to replace Israel's weapons but to restore them in accordance with the Soviet Union's restoration of Arab losses.

Congressional critics say the only hard figures the administration has given so far on Israel's need is the $1-billion worth of U.S. arms and ammunition already sent to Israel during and since the war from U.S. stocks.

Authorization of the $2.2 billion was approved 32 to 2 Tuesday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The Foreign Affairs Committee bill would require the President to report to Congress any spending of the money over $1.5 billion 20 days in advance.

The foreign aid portion passed the House 209 to 193 Tuesday with little debate and was sent to the Senate.

Rural energy chief wants fuel priorities for farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration's rural energy-saving chief told Congress Tuesday that he will push for federal fuel priorities for agriculture and will urge farmers to make the best use of what they get.

"The whole question of food security finally goes back to the farmer and whether he will be able to produce. Farmers understand conservation," Nick Smith, director of the Agriculture Department's Energy Crisis Activities, said at a House Agriculture Committee hearing.

Smith said his department would be aggressive in its efforts to promote energy conservation by farmers. For example, he said, they can save two gallons of fuel per acre by eliminating one trip over their fields, and they can conserve up to one-tenth of tractor or truck fuel by keeping engines tuned up.

There is a need to keep up-to-date on information about seasonal requirements "of how much of what agricultural fuel is needed and where," Smith said.

In working with other governmental agencies on energy matters, "we need to assure that policy decisions and allocation programs are structured to give agriculture the fuel priorities that are proportionate to this industry's importance to the national well-being," he added.

There is a need for the "best possible allocation" to farmers during the fuel crisis, Smith said.

Furthermore, the department is trying to spread the word to farmers through a publicity campaign and "fact sheets" such as tips on conserving heat in a chicken house and alternatives to drying field shelled corn," Smith said.

Informational kits will be sent to 3,000 soil conservation outlets through state offices, and data on better ways to insulate homes and save fuel in farmhouses are being distributed to rural families through 1,800 Farmers Home Administration offices in the states, he said.

A 1974 agricultural outlook conference to be held here Dec. 17 will include talks on fuel availability, he said. Last month, "we met with farm and commodity organizations" to discuss energy-saving activity, Smith added.

The department itself is looking into the feasibility of a 20 per cent energy cut in its own operations and has done such things as calling off the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service's previously scheduled state conferences of county personnel, he said.

Operator assisted calls not allowed from dorm rooms

Dorm residents can no longer make operator assisted phone calls from the privacy of their own rooms, Dick Kimberley, service officer manager of General Telephone Electronics Co., said.

The phone company's rule was put into two years ago, but was never enforced, Kimberley said.

The rule went into effect last week to help cut down on the money the phone company was losing. "We lost over $100,000 last year on toll calls we could not bill anybody on," Kimberley said.

Dorm residents can still make self-dialing calls from their rooms, but have to go to a pay phone to make operator assisted calls, Kimberley said.

Convocation offering dance classes given by celebrities

By Dave Stearns
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Not only will University Convocations present "Vignettes in Dance" at 8 p.m. Thursday in Shryock Auditorium, but they will offer a master dance class for teachers and advance students Thursday in Furr Auditorium.

The Convo performers and teachers of the dance class will be

Judy Joseph and Kenneth Brelsford, who are veterans of the Butler Ballet and the NET Dance Education Series; and Pascual Olivera, who has appeared on the Johnny Carson and Mike Douglas Shows performing classical Spanish and flamenco dance.

Olivera will demonstrate and lecture on Spanish flamenco dance from 10 to 10:45 a.m., classical dance will be taught from 10:45 till noon and again from 1 to 2 p.m. Ann Barzel of the Illinois Arts Council will outline the history of dance. After the Thursday night performance, an informal coffee hour, sponsored by Student Government, will be held backstage in Shryock Auditorium.

The performance, the class and the coffee hour are all open to the public and free of charge. For further information, contact Hazel Burnett at 453-4397.

Two fellowships offered to blacks, NSS members

Fellowships are available for undergraduate and graduate black students under the age of 30 and any member of the National Speleological Society (NSS).

Applications for Ralph Bunche Fellowship are available in Room 228 B at the Graduate School. It allows blacks under the age of 30 to pursue a one-year, off-campus program of research and active involvement in international affairs.

Applications for the NSS Fellowship may be obtained from John R. Holsinger, chairman of the Research and Advisory Committee, Department of Biology, Old Dominion, Norfolk, Va. 23506.

The grants to members of NSS are usually in amounts less than $100 for projects in cave-related sciences.

Dow exports rising

Ronald Hanson, assistant professor of agricultural industries, has an illustrated feature article published in the fall quarterly issue of the FS Patrons Guide, a trade magazine of FS Services, Inc., a three-state affiliate of Farm Bureau.

The article on "Dual Employment is Becoming More Important to Farm Families" is based on a state-wide research Hanson has done on farm income and off-farm employment in Illinois.

John Andresen, forestry professor, co-authored "San Francisco's Street Tree Exhibit," an article published in the current issue of the Arborist's News, a publication of the International Shade Tree Conference based at Urbana.

Collaborating with Andresen is Brian R. Fewer, supervisor of the street planting division in the San Francisco department of public works. The article describes a permanent demonstration planting of 54 species of trees growing under street and parkway conditions as a guide for city property owners and agencies in urban forestry developments in San Francisco.

Forms for society available

SIU's chapter of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi announced that applications for graduate fellowships are available to its members upon request from the local chapter secretary.

Applicants must be currently completing a baccalaureate degree with plans to enter graduate school in 1974.

No restriction is placed upon the field of work, but preference is given to candidates who intend to proceed to the doctorate or its equivalent. The fellowship carries a stipend of $3,000.

The chapter is entitled to recommend only one of its members for consideration in the fellowship competition. Applications may be secured from Mrs. Catherine Boulanger of the Department of Linguistics.

The deadline for the applications with the local chapter is Jan. 15, 1974; fellowship awards will be announced by April 1.

Blind student group receives U.S. flag

A hand-sewn U.S. flag will be presented to the Blind Student Organization (BSO) by members of the Daughters of the American Revolution at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Lawson Hall Room 101, Howard Frantz, president of BSO said Tuesday.

Frantz said the event is significant because it will enable the blind to "see" the stars and stripes through their hands.

Arthur Miller play to air on WSIU-TV

"Incident at Vichy," Arthur Miller's tragic drama about Jews and suspected Jews caught in a Nazi roundup in France during World War II, is the third presentation on Hollywood Television Theater's "Conflicts" series at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday on WSIU-TV, Channel 8.

The one-act play, which has been adapted for television by Miller, is set in a detention room in Vichy, France, during the German occupation in 1942. A group of men and a boy are herded together awaiting interrogation before being sent to concentration camps.

Miller's drama, which was directed by actor Stacy Keach, faces a major issue with unrelenting honesty and conviction: the failure to assume responsibility and the consequent moral and social guilt for those who refuse to fight evil.

Dancers travel to Chicago for benefit show

The Southern Repertory Dance Theater will give two guest performances at Chicago in a "Celebrate the City" benefit program at the Newberry Plaza.

"Celebrate the City," sponsored by Chicago's Free Street Theater, will feature performances in music, dance and drama by guest artists Dec. 2 to Dec. 22.

"We are the only dance company in Illinois invited to perform," said Lonny Gordon, assistant professor in the SIU theater and women's physical education departments.

A company of 14 Southern Repertory Dance Theater members will perform in the "Celebrate the City" program Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 9 at 2 p.m.

While the total dance program is not yet complete, the admission-free performances will include "Crossings," "Tendency" and "Black Zina."

The program is being presented in an attempt to create community interest in the Free Street Theater and to raise funds for financing the program.

Gordon noted that the Free Student Theater depends on state grants and private contributions for its existence.

Orders to be taken for R-T magazine

Subscriptions to "Broadcasting" magazine will be for sale from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday in front of the radio and TV office, Communications Building, room 1056.

"Broadcasting" will be the primary text used winter quarter in RT-390, broadcast management. Subscriptions will be offered by AERho at $16, $4 less than the regular price per year.

Athletics more than winning medals

By John Morrissey
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

To Lynette Hunter, competing in international athletic competition means more than winning medals. "It bridges a gap between my disability and else," she said in an interview.

Ms. Hunter represented the United States in the women's competition of the 1973 Pan-American Wheelchair Games in Lima, Peru, held late last month. Her trip to South America was good for two gold medals, a silver and a bronze and a lot of satisfaction.

The performance was her best in six years of competition. Ms. Hunter qualified for the 1968 Para-Olympics in Israel and the Stoke Mandeville Games in England last summer, but she said she didn't do nearly as well then as she did in Peru.

A change in the disability classification system accounted for Ms. Hunter's recent success. She explained that prior to the Lima games, handicapped athletes were divided into three disability groups. She was classified into group 1, the most disabled class, but there were numbers of athletes in the grouping who had a physical edge on her.

"When I was (classified as) a one, I was competing against people with a lot more to work with than I had," she said. Ms. Hunter is disabled from the middle of the back downward.

The new classification system used in the Pan-American Games in Lima divided disability into five categories, making competition fairer among contestants. Ms. Hunter is now in group 11.

In addition to the more equitable competition setup, Ms. Hunter rose to the occasion with some of her own personal bests. Her first place discus throw of 38'4" was six feet further than her previous best performance. She also scored 3350 points out of a possible 6500 for first place in the pentathlon, ran up 504 points out of a possible 844 for second in archery, and took third in the javelin with a 26'3" throw.

Ms. Hunter said her athletic pursuits are beneficial to her daily life. "Wheelchair sports gets you more physically fit," she said. She also related that handicapped athletes learn a lot from each other during their gatherings that they would normally not learn going their own separate ways.

Disc breaks

Lynette Hunter lets fly with the discus as a worker in the Pan-American games anchors her wheelchair. Ms. Hunter's best throw, 38'4", was good for first place in her class.

Soccer club wins

The SIU International Soccer Club defeated a group of graduates from SIU-Edwardsville, 6-4 Saturday in McAndrew Stadium. Among the Edwardsville players was St. Louis Star professional John Carenza.

The SIU scoring came from Jose Escovar (2), Bijan Varjani (2) and Ricardo Caballero (2).

The Club will hold its mid-year meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, in the Woody Hall International Center Lounge.

Women gymnasts steal Ozark show; clinic scheduled

The SIU Women's Gymnastics team dominated a group of 66 participants Saturday in the Ozark Invitational Gymnastics Meet in Springfield, Mo.

The SIU women won first place in all five events, second in four of the events and third in three. Stephanie Stromer led the way with a 35.7 all-around and a 9.2 winning performance on the balance beam. Sandi Gross won the vaulting competition with a 9.55 score and the floor exercise with a 8.85.

Diane Grayson finished second in the all-around for SIU with an overall score of 35.65. She also won the uneven bars with a 9.05 mark. Coach Herb Vogel said he was very pleased with the results of the meet and announced that Patty Hanlon and Ginger Temple are about to come off of the injury list. All of the women in the meet competed individually and unattached.

The team will be leaving Wednesday to help conduct the first all-Black women's gymnastics clinic at Norfolk State College in Norfolk, Vir. Eight hundred girls and women will participate in the workshop that is being funded by the U.S. Government and the Nissen Corporation.

Vogel said a workshop there last year was received favorably. "We will try to inform and instruct the girls as well as the instructors and coaches, hoping to open a new area of competition to the black young ladies who have not had the opportunity to compete in gymnastics."

The women who participate will represent seven states although no competition will be held during the clinic. The SIU women will put on an intrasquad exhibition to begin the two-day event.

Looks back at Windy City results

Gym coach salvages optimism from meet

By John Morrissey
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Assistant SIU gymnastic coach Jack Biesterfeldt found a lot of silver lining in last Saturday's seventh place Windy City Invitational finish.

While the team did not score the way he would have liked them to, he said he noticed much potential for improvement.

"(Kim) Wall is beginning to be recognizable as a potentially significant all-around man," Biesterfeldt wrote in a summary of his team's performance. Wall's 48.8 placed him 11th, and he also finished 11th in the parallel bar finals.

An even better all-around story was that of Glen Tidwell. "Tidwell is doing quite well in all-around, showing progress in his weak areas," according to Biesterfeldt's write-up.

Tidwell did well enough in his weak areas to beat last year's national junior college champion in all-around, Gary Rafaloski, now of Indiana State. Tidwell was a specialist until this year, finishing last season as the national junior college parallel bar champion while at Long Beach Junior College in California.

Side horse man Ed Hemmbd, according to his coach, won his first tournament anywhere last Saturday.

Biesterfeldt said he also had reason to be encouraged by the compulsory meet, which Windy City officials ran Friday as a service to the athletes. Biesterfeldt said not enough emphasis is placed on compulsories during much of the season, even though they count toward half a gymnast's final score in NCAA regionals and finals.

The compulsory competition not only let the participating gymnasts know what they need to improve for the crucial tests to come, but also showed them where they stood in relation to their probable competition.

Kim Wall did not execute the compulsory vault according to the book and received a 0 for it, but still finished 24th. Biesterfeldt said "by merely getting a 6.5" Wall would have moved into 17th. He contended further that "reasonable" work on the parallel bars and rings could move him as high as 11th.

Biesterfeldt said Jon Hallberg, who also received no compulsory score on long horse, would have moved to 12th with the same 6.5 score. He also predicted better days for Hallberg on horse, and said he could pick up 1.5 on horizontal bar if he can learn one key part of his routine.

Hallberg placed highest among all-around men in the rings compulsory with an 8.85, and added a sixth-place all-around finish on parallel bars.

Biesterfeldt had a conference with each of his team members during the plane ride back to Carbondale after the Windy City meet, to discuss workouts intended to improve weak points before Saturday's Rocky Mountain Invitational in Denver. The field is expected to be just as large and competitive as the Windy City Invitational.

Salukis bury Green Bay 99-56 in home opener

The SIU Salukis reduced the Wisconsin-Green Bay Phoenix to ashes Tuesday night in the SIU Arena by the run away score of 99-56.

Green Bay played the game without the services of two regulars. Junior guard Earnald DeShazer and 6-6 forward Gordon Patterson will both be lost until after Christmas with broken hands.

The Salukis were able to pressure Green Bay into many first half turnovers. Making use of the fast break, SIU charged to a 14-10 lead.

A tenacious Saluki defense and a hot streak for the SIU shooters saw SIU wheel off 20 unanswered points, increasing the Saluki lead to 34-10.

All of the Saluki starters contributed in the first half point production as did substitutes Tim Ricci, Alvin Hendricks and Ricky Boynton.

Saluki junior Joe C. Meriweather had little trouble with Green Bay jumping jack center James Bardney, who left early in the first half with three personal fouls.

SIU fired a blistering 61.9 per cent from the field in the first half, getting many baskets in close on steals and accurate assists. The Phoenix only shot 30.4 per cent in the half. SIU had a 53-19 halftime lead.

The second half offered more of the same with the Salukis opening up a 53 point lead at one point. Dennis Shidler picked up 11 assists, many on inside feeds to Meriweather and freshman forward Corky Abrams.

Hendricks replaced Meriweather with 16:37 left in the game when the 6-11 center was whistled for his fourth personal foul. But it was a game where the Salukis did not need to depend on the skills of Meriweather as all available Salukis got into the game.

SIU forward Perry Hines did not play because of a foot injury he received in the loss to Michigan Saturday.

About the only real excitement in the second half was the anticipation of SIU trying for the 100-point mark and the only basket of the night by obvious crowd favorite George Thompson.

Thompson's basket with 2:53 left in the game made the score 93-46. Lambert had long since retired his regulars to the bench, and the game ended in a flurry of unsuccessful tries to reach the century mark.

SIU ended the night hitting 51 per cent from the floor, a feat they also accomplished in the Michigan loss. High scorers for SIU were Glenn with 18, Shidler with 16 and Meriweather with 12 points in the 22 minutes he played.

Forward Tom Jones was the games leading point man with 26. Bardney was the next highest Phoenix with eight points.

"Our first eight kids did an excellent job of pressuring the ball and hitting the open man," Lambert said after the rout.

Our press didn't allow Breen Bay to control the tempo of the game, and to beat this team is something that we felt we had to do."

The Salukis next game will be played at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the SIU Arena against Missouri-Rolla.

Heisman trophy goes to runner Cappelletti

NEW YORK (AP)—John Cappelletti, who almost quit the Penn State football team early last season, reversed his field in dramatic fashion Tuesday when he was named winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college player of 1973.

The 6-foot-1, 215-pound senior running back from Upper Darby, Pa., more than doubled the point total of runner-up John Hicks, an offensive tackle from Ohio State. No interior lineman has ever won the Heisman Trophy and Hicks was one of the few ever to finish as high as second.

Cappelletti received 229 first-place votes and 1,057 points from 819 Heisman electors across the country. Hicks received 114 first-place votes and 524 points. He was followed by Texas fullback Roosevelt Leaks, Kansas quarterback David Jaynes and Ohio State tailback Archie Griffin.

Cappelletti carried the East, South and Far West while the Midwest went for Hicks and the Southwest for Leaks.

Cappelletti, a high school quarterback who played defensive back as a Penn State sophomore, said he entertained thoughts of quitting last year after his third game as a running back. He failed to gain 100 yards in any of those games, although he surpassed that figure five times later that season and eight times this year.

"After the Iowa game last year I was really confused and I felt I just didn't have it any more," he said.
